

AMARA

The best Digestive in the world is: Amaro Amara

The Sicilian liqueur based on Red Orange PGI triumphs at the World Liqueur Award 2022, the authoritative world competition awarded the absolute world title for its category.

According to World Liqueur Awards, the best digestive in the world is Sicilian. The authoritative world competition award Amaro Amara the absolute world title, the highest recognition for its category.

Any Sicilian amaro has ever reached so high over the years, and the satisfaction is enormous for Edoardo Strano, who nine years ago made the dream of creating an artisanal amaro come true, made only with Sicilian Red Orange PGI peels and wild herbs from the 'Etna. "A recognition that comes after two difficult years - says the entrepreneur - but in which we have never made compromises on quality.

This Award demonstrates that with work and commitment you can get anywhere. We are proud to receive such an important award that helps us to achieve our highest goal: to tell the beauty and authenticity of the Etnean agricultural territory in the world. "

Today Amaro Amara officially enters the Olympus of Italian liquor.

Sicilian blood oranges that grow kissed by the sun on the slopes of Mount Etna are the undisputed protagonists of Amaro Amara.

The secret recipe, the small cellar, the expert hands of the few employees and the precious infusion ensure the craftsmanship and seal a pact of fidelity between the territory and the glass, signed every day with the unmistakable red sealing wax that celebrates the authentic Sicilian craftsmanship on every bottle of Amara.
