The 2021 Parapente Branco was produced with a blend of traditional varieties found in the field blend—Côdega, Viosinho, Verdelho, Bical and Gouveio. It has a balsamic, medicinal and spicy nose with a creamy touch, developing more notes of pollen and verbena. It shows moderate ripeness, 12.5% alcohol, a pH of 3.12 and 6.2 grams of acidity, reflecting a cooler and rainier year that delivered lighter, fresher and lower-alcohol wines. It has a serious, chalky palate and a dry, long and tasty finish. 1,700 bottles produced. It was bottled in 2022. Apparently, this brand was also used in the past for a Loureiro from Vinho Verde.
